

During this week I have spent most of my time trying to improve on my work by implementing the things that the person who went through my project suggested. It had to do with documentation, instructions in the README.md file on how to get the environment set up and better explanations of the functions of the codes themselves. What I am submitting for my week 7 is not complete as there are still things that need to be added and things that are not fixed as I realized that there was a problem with the results that I was getting. I am going to have to spend a lot of time tomorrow working on getting everything fixed as the presentation of the project is coming up and I want something that is not only presentable ready, but also correct. This is going to be a bit of a shorter weekly report since the things that need to be done are pretty cut and clear.